

HISTORIC AMERICAN ENGINEERING RECORD
INDEX TO PHOTOGRAPHS

HAER
MINN
84-WOLV.V
1-

Enloe Bridge No. 90021
(North Dakota Bridge No. 126-09.0)
Spanning the Red River of the North on County State-Aid Highway 28
Wolverton vicinity
Wilkin County
Minnesota

HAER No. MN-72

NOTE: The Red River of the North, which flows north, forms part of the border between Minnesota and North Dakota. Therefore, Enloe Bridge is also located in Abercrombie vicinity, Richland County, North Dakota.

Mike Whye, Photographer

July 2, 1993

- MN-72-1 View from the northeast, looking upstream (southwest) toward bridge's northeast elevation
- MN-72-2 View from the Minnesota bank looking downstream (north-northwest) at bridge's southwest elevation; the bridge approach is missing
- MN-72-3 View from North Dakota bank, looking at the bridge's southwest elevation from the southern side of the northwest end
- MN-72-4 View of bridge from Minnesota bank, near northern side of the southeast portal looking southwest
- MN-72-5 View from Minnesota bank, near southern side of the southeast portal looking north
- MN-72-6 View from the Minnesota side, looking northwest at the Minnesota portal of the bridge
- MN-72-7 Detail of Minnesota (southeast) portal of bridge, from the southeast
- MN-72-8 Detail of North Dakota portal looking southeast
- MN-72-9 Detail of pin truss and floor board system, from Minnesota end of the bridge, looking at the bridge's southwest side
- MN-72-10 Detail of deck underside, from the Minnesota bank, looking northwest
- MN-72-11 Detail of log stamp on ends of plank, near the Minnesota end of the bridge
- MN-72-12 Photocopy of bridge construction photographs (from the collection of Phil Bolme, 17540 County Road 28, Colfax, North Dakota 58018; [701] 553-8705)
Photographer unknown, 1917
Views showing bridge under construction